

Terms and Conditions

Last Updated: March 9th, 2022

Who we are, what we offer and the binding of our Terms

This website, hosted by Wix.com, is owned and licensed to Vishvesh Yatheeswaran and Noah Bala. These terms outlined as followed shall hence forth be the terms and conditions under which you may interact and use our website to gain either insight on our tutoring programs or contact us. Hence, by opening and interacting with our website, you have read, comprehended, accepted and are bound to these Terms set on using and interacting with our website.

Our users

To access this website, you must have legal authority, right and freedom to comply and be bound by these Terms in your country's jurisdiction. Thus, you are not permitted to access or utilize this website if it is not permitted in your country or comply with laws or regulations that adhere to you.

Main commercial Terms for users

The website shall display possible subscriptions we offer, but under no circumstance will there be any monetary transaction occurring, on or that will put you through to another platform on the internet. All transaction shall take place after contacting us externally from the website. However, we reserve the right and opportunity to alter the prices and types of services stated on the website at any given time. This includes increasing and/or decreasing prices of services and adding, subtracting or altering the type of services provided. As such, we may temporarily or permanently terminate this website and the services offered at any given time without prior notice and liability for reason to be shared or not to be shared with you.

Intellectual Property, Copyrights and user actions

All materials on, or passed on through the website including, but not limited to: images, logos, graphic content, trademarks, copyrights and all Intellectual Property Rights related here to, are solely property of 'The IBeasy Project' or as entrusted by 'Wix.com'. Thus, nothing as mentioned above in these Terms shall be condoned to be created a license in or upon any of such Intellectual Property Rights, where you accept and are bound to not: sell, rent, license, alter, share, replicate, reproduce, publish works hereof.

Right of suspension

We reserve the right to terminate your access temporarily or permanently to this website with or without notice and liability, for any reason we deem you in violation of these Terms or adhering laws.

Indemnification

You hereby agree to indemnify and account: Vishvesh Yatheeswaran and/or Noah Bala unaffected by any loss, liabilities, expenses (including legal attorney costs), held or filed against them by third parties regarding your actions and usage of this website and its services included.

Limitation of liability

Under no circumstances shall the IBeasy Project owners be liable or responsible, to any damages or losses of data, relating to the Users actions on, or inability to use this service and website.

Under no circumstances shall the IBeasy Project owners be liable or responsible, to any inaccuracies of content, property damage from any unauthorized users access to our website and servers or databases where any or all personal information is contained.

Right of altering and changing Terms

The IBeasy Project reserves the right to alter and, or change these Terms, without informing the Users for the duration this website is published with our permission. Thus, it is the users responsibility to consistently review and be familiar with the Terms. Changes made in the Terms will be effective immediately after they are disclosed. By following on to the website the User declares acceptance and responsibility of any new Terms. If the User is not in agreement and, or in acceptance of the Terms and its included responsibilities, the User can not and, or should not, use and access this website and its services.

Law and conflict resolution

The Terms, including the rights, bindings, are in conflict with user, regarding claims or disputes, on the website or its services, shall be governed and enforced solely in accordance with the laws of the Netherlands. Any claims or disputes charged against IBeasy Project, the user shall hereby consent to be decided solely by the appropriate court and jurisdiction located in The Hague.

Contact Information

Email: projectibeasy@gmail.com